Due to revised methodology, historical data for calculating the heat content of electricity net generation from hydroelectric power, geothermal, solar, and wind energy were revised in the September Monthly Energy Review.